Use of Content

Access to and use of all text, artwork, photographs and other files published on this Web site are subject to the following policies. For information on the reproduction and use of items from the Museum collections or our changing exhibits, please refer to the "Reproduction Policy/Museum Collections" document under the Resources tab on this Web site.

Intellectual Property Laws

Software, documentation, electronic text and image files, audio and video excerpts, and other materials are generally protected by copyright laws and may be covered by other restrictions as well. Holocaust Museum Houston (HMH) retains all rights, including copyright where applicable, in data, image, text and any other information contained in these files. Copyrights and other proprietary rights in the material on this Web site may also be owned by individuals and entities other than, and in addition to, HMH; these copyrights are noted in photographic captions.

HMH prohibits the copying of any protected materials on this Web site, except for the purposes of fair use as defined in the copyright laws and as described below.

Fair Use Permitted

Fair use of copyrighted material includes the use of protected materials for non-commercial educational purposes, such as teaching, scholarship, research, criticism, commentary and news reporting. Unless otherwise noted, users who wish to download or print text and image files from this Web site for such uses may do so without the express and written permission of HMH, provided that they comply with any additional terms or restrictions that may be applicable to the individual file, image or program.

Users must cite the author and source of this material as they would material from any printed work; the citation should include the URL www.hmh.org and may also include the URL for the specific Web page. By downloading, printing or otherwise using text and image files from this Web site, users agree that they will limit their use of such files to fair use and will not violate the proprietary rights of HMH or of any other party.

HMH does not warrant that use of the materials displayed on its Web site will not infringe the rights of third parties not affiliated with HMH.

Commercial Use Restricted

Unauthorized commercial publication or exploitation of the Website files created by HMH is prohibited. Anyone wishing to use any of these files or images for commercial use, publication or any purpose other than fair use as defined by law must request and obtain prior written permission from HMH. Permission for such use is granted on a case-by-case basis at the sole discretion of HMH. A usage fee may be assessed depending on the type and nature of the proposed use. Please contact info@hmh.org to submit your request.

Use of Logos

Many of the logos displayed on hmh.org, including the HMH logo, are registered and/or unregistered common law trademarks. The logos of third parties may also be displayed on this Web site. Nothing contained in this Web site should be construed as granting, by implication or otherwise, any license or right to use any logos displayed on this Web site without the express written permission of HMH or any third party that may own the logos displayed on the site. Any unauthorized use of the logos or any other materials, except as authorized in these Policies, is strictly prohibited.

Disclaimer

The materials published on www.hmh.org are provided "AS IS" AND WITHOUT A WARRANTY OF ANY KIND, EITHER EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR USE AND/OR NON-INFRINGEMENT. HMH assumes no responsibility and shall not be liable for any damage to or viruses or other content that may infect your computer equipment or other property on account of your use of this Web site or your downloading of any materials from the site. IN NO EVENT SHALL HMH AND/OR ITS RESPECTIVE SUPPLIERS BE LIABLE FOR ANY SPECIAL, INDIRECT OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES OR ANY DAMAGES WHATSOEVER RESULTING FROM THE USE OR PERFORMANCE OF INFORMATION AVAILABLE FROM THIS WEB SITE.

Links to Third-Party Sites

Linked sites are not under the control of HMH, and HMH assumes no responsibility for the contents of any linked site or any link contained in a linked site or for any changes or updates to such sites. HMH provides these links only as a convenience, and the inclusion of any link does not imply an HMH endorsement of the linked site.

Privacy

HMH respects the privacy and personal information of its members. HMH has a policy of not sharing with third parties any financial information you provide when purchasing a membership or making a donation except (1) to the extent required by law or (2) to acknowledge your donation in our publications when requested. We do not share the names and addresses of members or donors with other non-profit organizations for the purposes of ticket sales, event promotion or fund-raising, but we may mail information to you on their behalf without divulging your personal information directly to the third party.

Information HMH.org gathers and tracks

HMH.org gathers two types of information about users: data that users provide through mandatory, voluntary registration (for purchasing tickets, goods and services from HMH.org); and aggregated tracking information derived mainly by tallying page views throughout our site. Such information enables us to better tailor our content to users' needs and to help our managers better understand the demographics of our audience. HMH.org does not share information about individual users with any third party. HMMH.org gathers user information in the following processes:

Mandatory, voluntary registration

HMMH.org offers free, voluntary registration to users. By registering, users gain access to the HMMH e-commerce applications and may then buy the goods and services offered at HMMH.org. During registration, the user is required to supply a name, billing address, billing phone number, credit card information (if required) and a valid e-mail address.

In some cases, users may have the option of supplying secondary address information and information about their work and social habits. In addition, the user can opt to subscribe to HMMH electronic newsletters.

Polling

HMMH.org offers interactive polls to users so they can easily share their opinions with other users and see what the HMMH.org audience thinks about important issues. HMMH.org uses a system to "tag" users after they have voted, so they can vote only once on a particular question. This tag is not correlated with information about individual users.

Surveys

Occasionally, HMMH.org conducts user surveys to better target our application demonstrations and content to our audience. We may share the aggregated usability information in these surveys with our partners. We never share any information about specific individuals with any third party.

Usage tracking

HMMH.org tracks user traffic patterns. However, we do not correlate this information with data about individual users. HMMH.org does break down overall usage statistics according to a user's domain name, browser type and MIME type by reading this information from the browser string (information contained in every user's browser).

Cookies

A cookie is a small data file that certain Web sites write to your hard drive when you visit them. A cookie file can contain information such as a user ID that the site uses to track the pages you've visited. The only personal information a cookie can contain is information you supply yourself. A cookie can't read data off your hard disk or read cookie files created by other sites. HMMH.org uses cookies to track user traffic patterns (as described above), when you register as a HMMH.org member and when you click an ad).

Registration

When you register, HMMH.org uses a cookie to store a unique, random user ID. We do not store passwords or any personal information about you. We use this ID to identify you anonymously in our database and to track the pages you visit on our site. Cookies also enable you to visit member-restricted areas of the site. We encrypt the user ID for added security. If you've set your browser to warn you before accepting cookies, you will receive the warning message with each cookie.

You can refuse cookies by turning them off in your browser. You do not need to have cookies turned on to use HMH.org. However, you MUST have cookies enabled to use any of the e-commerce facilities (Online ticketing, membership registration, etc.) of HMH.org.

Use of the information

HMH.org uses any information voluntarily given by our users to enhance their experience, whether to provide interactive or personalized elements on the sites or to better prepare future content based on the interests of our users.

Data security

To prevent unauthorized access, maintain data accuracy and ensure the correct use of information, HMH uses appropriate physical, electronic and managerial procedures to safeguard and secure the information we collect online.

Accessing or correcting your information

Users may access, correct or update the personally identifiable information the Museum collects online by updating the member profile information when making an online purchase or registering for an event. To do so, will require the user have a valid member ID number connected with a home telephone number on file with the Museum. Users may also call the Member Services Department at 713-942-8000, ext. 312, to update or correct information on file. To protect our users' privacy, the Museum will take reasonable steps to verify your identity before granting access or making corrections.

Contacting the Museum about your information

For other questions or concerns regarding information these privacy policies, please call the Member Services Department at 713-942-8000, ext. 312 or e-mail membership@hmh.org.

Return Policy

All online purchases (Museum memberships, membership renewals, special exhibition passes and/or film tickets) are final and nonrefundable for any reason.
