A new death every night
All I feel is fright, so
What's the real definition
Of these human rights?

Is it by our race? The world thinks we're scary.
Was it our right to be sold into slavery?
The Criminal Justice system is not formal.
Being whipped day and night became the new normal.

So what human rights were being granted to my people?
In the world's eyes, we've never been seen as equals.
Going through life everyday with no contentment.
Being hung from a tree just like a pendant, no independence,
But our freedom was the 13th Amendment.
Being free to the world was transcendent.

Human rights brought us to the free land,
Except we're not free. In fact, we'll never be free
Is what the world fails to see.
Racist cops killing us for the whole world to see.
Slave masters killed us and then threw us in the sea.

So do we really have the rights of a human?
White America loves to treat us less than.
In this world, Whites have always had the other hand.
That's called white privilege for the ones who don't understand,
But Malcom X did, and so did MLK.
They both fought for black lives in every single way.
Bringing peace to the world every single day.
They let the world know we're here and we're here to stay.

They took the human out of human rights and made it civil.
Blacks are not evil, Blacks are not vengeful.

Civil rights gave all Blacks a voice.
Human rights made us stay down without a choice.
Now it's time to stand up and let our voices be heard.
Feel the hate that you give us in every single word.

We have to do better.
Put aside all our racial differences and start to come together.
Civil rights help us understand one another,
And human rights lets us love each other.
